1. Trust - ing in the Bi - ble's prom - ise One could ask and learn God's way.
2. All at once dark pow'r as - sailed him, To pre - vent his prayer it came;
3. O - ver Jo - seph shone two fig - ures Past the glo - ry of the sun.
4. Jo - seph's vi - sion sure - ly an - swered More than his pure prayer a lone;

Midst re - li - gious strife and tur - moil Youth - ful Jo - seph felt to pray.
Jo - seph cried with great - er fer - vor, Call - ing on God's ho - ly name.
Face to face the young boy pro - phet Heard the Fa - ther and the Son.
Through the a - ges count - less faith - ful Prayed as Je - sus Christ had shown.

With a faith that could move moun - tains, turn a riv - er from its course,
As a pil - lar light de - scend - ed, And the pall of dark - ness fled;
Jo - seph left the grove that morn - ing Cer - tain God still spoke to man,
Oft, "They king - dom come," they'd plead - ed, And yet more, "Thy will be done."

He knelt in a grove one morn - ing Seek - ing truth from God, its — source.
"Jo - seph! This is my be - lov - ed— Hear Him", God the fa - ther — said.
Would ex - alt His sons and daught - ers, Would re - store re - demp - tion's plan.
Now their heart - felt prayers were an - swered, Res - to - ra - tion's light was — come.
